Eurasian Natural Resources Corporation PLC to Join FTSE-100 Index

Eurasian Natural Resources Corporation PLC, Kazakhstan's leading diversified metals and mining company, is delighted to announce its accession to the FTSE-100 index of the UK's leading public companies. The company will begin trading as part of the index on 26 March.

ENRC raised £1.5 billion on the London Stock Exchange in December 2007, the second largest UK listing last year, and the largest by a metals and mining company.

ENRC is one of the world's largest producers of ferrochrome, the sixth largest exporter of iron ore and the fifth largest supplier of traded alumina. It is also one of Kazakhstan's largest energy suppliers. In December last year it opened Kazakhstan's first state-of-the-art aluminium smelter with a capacity of 62,500 tonnes. This is scheduled to rise to 250,000 tonnes by 2011.

Sir David Cooksey, Chairman of ENRC, said, "We are delighted to be joining the FTSE-100 index. This success is a testament to the strength and diversity of our assets, the quality of our management and the prospects of the business. We are committed to growing the business in the coming years, building on the strong foundations we have laid."
